After Jesus was tempted in the wilderness, He began His ministry. First, Jesus went to the synagogue on the Sabbath day to read. A scroll from Isaiah was given to Him that was a prophecy about Himself. After reading He told the people that Scripture was being fulfilled right before them. At first, those listening admired His gracious words. But as Jesus continued to teach their admiration turned to wrath because he would not do what He had done in other towns. In their anger they drove him out of town to a cliff to kill Him, yet He passed through their midst and went away.

After this, Jesus healed many people and continued to preach in different synagogues. His fame was growing and He was set on preaching the good news. As the people accepted His teachings, they would press in on Him to hear the word of God. One of the times the people wanted to hear Him teach was at the Lake of Gennesaret (aka Sea of Galilee). Jesus saw two boats on the water with no fishermen in them. So, He got in one to teach. This is where our story begins...
